Entrance into high school marks the beginning of an important stage in the transition from childhood to adulthood. During these four formative years at M.H.S., our development is greatly influenced by relationships with our teachers. It is the rare teacher than can administer to the varying needs that arise in each facet of high school life. One teacher, characterized by her sympathetic understanding and genuine concern for the welfare of each student, will be foremost in our memory of our stay at Morganton High —

For advising the adolescent, For molding the adult, For teaching the student, For guiding the individual, For caring for the person, For just being a friend.

We, the staff of the Cat's Tale '65, are proud to dedicate our annual to Mrs. Miriam Holmes.

Morganton High School has the distinction of having not one, but two, foreign exchange students this year. Agneta Langfalt and Martin Kaiser have been welcome additions to the graduating class of 1965.

Upon their arrival in August, our new students were enthusiastically welcomed by both the student body and the community as a whole. Both of them were immediately caught up in a whirl of Coke parties and introductory dinners. In a short while, they adjusted to the different social customs and felt completely at home in America.

felt completely at home in America.

Agneta, a native of Goteborg, Sweden, is spending her months in America with Norma Lang and her family. Having studied English for several years, she quickly overcame the language barrier and has acquired a wide circle of friends.

Martin hails from Tuebingen, Germany, and presently resides with the A. J. Dickens family. One of his major hobbies is amateur photography, and he spends much of his leisure time compiling a pictorial record of his stay in Morganton.

Both of our European students found the outdoor sports in America to their liking. Many of their first days in Morganton were spent at Lake James swimming, boating, and water skiing. For the first time, Agneta had the opportunity to go horseback riding outside the confines of the "riding rings" of Sweden. Martin was a common sight in his red hunting jacket carrying a shotgun or a .22.

Neither Martin nor Agneta are to receive any academic credit for their scholastic activities at M.H.S. However, we hope their experiences in America and the friends that they have made here will be adequate compensation.

All too soon, our good will ambassadors from Sweden and Germany will return to Europe and will, in turn, be good will ambassadors for America.

School Board

Secretaries, Miss Martha Noggle and Mrs. Carol Anderson.

Mr. Maston S. Parham, superintendent; Mr. Otis R. Peterson, supervisor; Mr. Conley L. Clarke, guidance director.

The responsibility for regulating the Morganton City Schools lies with the nine-member school board. At their monthly meetings the members discuss problems that arise at M.H.S. as well as in the other schools in our district. Headed by Chairman J. O. Barbour, this group has worked hard to maintain the high academic standards that have long characterized our school system.

Mr. Schiebout looks up from his work for a moment.

Administration

Mrs. Audrey Clark is a valuable assistant to Mr. Schiebout.

Signing blue slips consumes a great deal of the secretary's time.

The task of keeping Morganton High operating efficiently falls to our principal, Mr. F. C. Schiebout. Despite the long hours and many irritations of his job, he discharges his duties with diligence, dispatch, and dedication. A welcome addition to our administration is Mrs. Audrey Clark, our new secretary, whose warm smile and gracious manner brighten the outer office.

Our adjustment to the strange corridors and new faces is difficult, but in a short time we freshmen become accustomed to our surroundings and feel that we are an integral part of M.H.S.

Throughout this year we must endure the superior attitudes and good-natured taunts of the upperclassmen. Our first few weeks are spent nursing muscles strained by the unaccustomed stresses of Phys. Ed. While struggling with our bewildering new schedules, many of us encounter algebra and a foreign language for the first time.

Nevertheless, when the year ends, we find ourselves developing a growing pride in our alma mater.

When we begin our sophomore year, we lose forever our label of "green". However, we do not yet enjoy the privileges that belong to the upperclassmen.

The subjects that confront us this year are challenging and often a little baffling. Julius Caesar must be conquered both in English and in Latin. Sometimes World History seems to be only a jumble of names and dates. We puzzle over dissecting a frog and bisecting an angle.

As the year comes to a close, we find that we have gained a better understanding of ourselves as individuals and have begun to realize the responsibilities which we must assume as students of Morganton High.

After "sleeping" through our sophomore year, we awake to the responsibilities and privileges of upperclassmen. During our junior year we are increasingly active in athletics and in the clubs of M.H.S.

Through our study of literature, we become acquainted with such fascinating authors as Emerson, Sandburg, and Poe. In chemistry we spend many hours fumbling with test tubes and struggling with gas laws. Much of our time outside the classroom is devoted to planning the theme and raising money for the climax of the year — Junior-Senior.

Never do we experience a dull moment as we pursue greater knowledge and good times.

Our senior year is one of anticipation — of preparation for the life we must soon enter. We realize, with more than a little trepidation, that we must soon leave the security of high school and meet the challenges of a college curriculum.

In our academic endeavors we struggle to master the intricacies of calculus and to express ourselves more explicitly in English IV. We cherish each moment of our last year, fully aware of the fact that it will soon be just a memory.

When graduation day arrives, all too soon, we find ourselves overwhelmed by a nebulous sense of loss as we leave Morganton High.

Poem

The clock of time ticks on . . . From day to night;

Each life sees a new dawn,

Each morn, a new day alight.

Each second, a new hour of life Each minute, a new day and night, Each hour, a year of love and strife Or a year of wrong and right.

The clock of time has just begun; The future lies ahead. Far beyond the golden sun, Where will our lives be led?

To find fortune and fame,
Or to fall and never stand?
Will life always be the same,
Or will it change for every man?

New faces to see each day, New friends to make each year. The future opens a golden way Along it—laughs and tears.

Last Will and Testament

of Senior Class

of 1965

We, the 1965 Senior class of Morganton High School, being of sound mind and abounding spirit, do hereby bequeath our varied possessions to our immediate posterity. We hope that they will exalt in these treasures as we have and use them accordingly.

Article I: To the faculty and Mr. Schiebout, we leave our wishes for success in the years to come.

Article II: To the Freshman and Sophomore classes, we leave the knowledge that they will soon have the unique experience of being upperclassmen.

Article III: To the Town of Morganton, we leave a void and fond memories of all the good times we have had here.

Article IV: To our heirs, we leave our numerous talents, pranks, and idiosyncracies.

We, Michael Petrie and Joe Puett, leave Stephen Rudicil holding the BAG.

We, Gregg Harding, David Scott, and Henry Seitz, leave our unassuming characters to Garry Mabe and Toney Stamey.

- I, Barbara Randall, leave my ability to get things done to Melba Newton.
- I, Marie Mull, leave my ever neat appearance and good taste to Karen Ball.
- I, Beatrice Rivers, leave my variety of nicknames to Kay Newton, who has already collected a few for herself.

We, Scott Cutting and Charles Fisher, leave our irresistible ways to Donald Sisk.

I, Danny Jackson, leave my ambitious nature to Dennis Donahue.

We, Betsy Brunson and Sheila Walker, leave our noses for news to Mimi Kirby and Clara Jean Michaels.

- I, Lynne Tolbert, leave my sense of dedication to Helen Martin and Jeanne Clarke.
- I, Sandy Brenneman, leave my strength and endurance to David Newton.
- I, Roby Braswell, leave my love of car races to Fons Giles, who loves to race cars.

We, Pat Norman and Judy Nusz, leave our artistic abilities to Frank Braswell and Butch Woody.

I, Barry Whetstine, leave my endless school spirit and unforgettable personality to Sidney Bryson.

We, Steve Copeland and Ted Williams, leave the football team in the capable hands of Mike DiBiase and Charles Monroe.

- I, Gene Grigg, leave my lovable ways to Al Fleming.
- I, Brenda Bingham, leave my place at M.H.S. to my sister, Peggy.
- I, Linda Brown, leave my ability to out-dance anyone on the floor to Gail Turner.

We, Susie Spencer and Evelyn Walker, will our friendly ways to Donna Monroe and Jimmye Lea Moore.

I, Bill Gifford, leave my esteemed position on the annual staff to Mark Sanderford.

We, Libby Elkin and Jeanne Hairfield, leave our charm and grace to Laura Huffman and Carolyn Sakowski.

- I, Leslie Farfour, leave my famous "Farfourian Theorem" to Mr. Snyder, who may eventually find some use for it.
- I, Liz Connelly, leave my radiant beauty to Mary Phifer.

We, Bill Patton and Dicky Williams, leave our clean-cut appearances to Johnny Sigmon and Johnny Johnson.

I, Toni Walker, leave my ability to make the transition from school to school with great ease to Sheila Mann.

We, Brenda Keaton, Kay McMahon, Sara Jean Stamps, and Barbara Tuttle, leave our quiet, reserved ways to Brenda Coffey, Geraldine Hurt, Brenda Simmons, and Linda Carol Smith.

We, Frank Brown and Stuart DeVane, leave our extraordinary sense of humor to Mike Leonard and Sammy Williams.

- I, Billy Arnold, will my serious attitude and superior ability to Roy Curlee.
- I, Jane Butler, leave my beautiful voice to Susan Ward, who hardly needs it.

We, Betty Clark and Peggy Fetherbay, leave our lovely coiffures to Sandra Mallonee and Donna Johnson.

We, Marie Walker and Judy Yates, leave our ability to set beau-traps to Brenda Butler and Becky Dockery.

I, Daphne Allman, leave my flawless complexion to Linda Stine.

We, Diane McCall and Diane Shull, regretfully leave Danny Story and Guy Hollifield.

- I, Jimmy Arney, leave my ability to be outspoken at all times to Lynn Burnette, who ought to learn how.
- I, Ronald Morris, leave my ability to play the strong, silent type to John Parks.

We, Betty Jo Coffey, Kay Fetherbay, Soundra Goodnight, Edith McCall, and Sylvia Suddreth, leave our secretarial inclinations to Bette Barrier, Anita Berry, and Vivian Fox.

I, John Weller, leave my Yankee brogue to Joanne Tubergen.

We, Sarah Clontz and Jerroll Stamey, leave our giggles to Sandra Bourgoine.

We, Danny Cooke, Ronald Fisher, Bill Grady, and Roger Hollifield, leave our wide range of interests to Dewey Bumgarner, Ted Canipe, and Steve Revis.

- I, Becky Smith, leave my cheerleading abilities to Judy Ferguson.
- I, Dean Finch, leave my Halloween experiences to Eddie Garrison, so he won't make the same mistakes I did.

We, Emmett Brittain and Dicky Farr, leave our outdoor interests to Bill Moore and Andy Tuttle.

- I, Eugene Thomas, leave my importance to the Wildcat backfield to Steve Thomas.
  - I, Sheila England, leave my many methods of communicating with an out-of-town boy to Elaine Hahn, who doesn't seem to be having any trouble.

We, Jane Coley and Kathy Roberson, leave our immaculate, well-groomed appearances to Elizabeth Gregory and Brenda Kennedy.

I, Angela Strickland, leave my genteel approach to any situation to Gail Brannon.

We, Ernie Copenhaver, Sammy Depew, and Henry Dickens, leave our kindly endeavors to Ronnie Mills and Larry Ross.

I, Linda Houston, leave my impeccable taste in dress to Judy Perry.

We, Matoka Dale and Peggy McGimsey, leave our beautiful hair and eyes to Threna Gale and Jeanette Sperati.

We, Carolyn Cantrell and Janice Erwin, leave our carefree, fun-loving spirits to Diana Whisnant and Linda Williams.

I, Linda Hoyle, leave my name to Linda Hoyle, who has it whether I leave it or not.

We, Mildred and Pam Bradley, leave our feminity to Elaine Hudson.

- I, Martha Ann Abee, leave all my running around to Kathy Rogers, because I prefer to make my last run down the aisle.
- I, Judy Smith, leave my vivacity to Pam Greene. We, Mike Irvin and Robert Patton, leave our "Pepsodent smiles" to Larry Ballew and Tommy Freeman.
- I, Ned Pearson, will to Clark Craver my ability to understand the eventualities of life.
- I, Ervin Sisk, leave my ability to relax anytime, anywhere, to Steve Baker and Cecil Klutz.
- I, Joanne Chapman, leave my famous history, Ponce de Leon Discovers the Fountain of Youth, to "Put", because he has been teaching the wrong concept for many years.
- I, Jack Stroupe, leave my initiative and eagerness to learn to Drew Walker.

We, Sondra Pendley and Judy Whisnant, leave our friendly smiles for every one to Anne Irvin and Kathy Woerner.

I, Jimmy Berdine, leave my conquests, too numerous to mention, to any Junior boy who would like to have them.

We, Rod Orders and Tim Walker, leave our high ideals to Gary Ledford and Gary Whisnant.

- I, Gary Melton, leave my devil-may-care attitude to James Hise.
- I, Kay Thorpe, leave my dancing blue eyes to Susan Brothers.

We, Joyce Fleming, Connie Hall, and Pat Majors, leave our soft voices to Vivian Jenkins and Martha Phifer.

- I, Judy Williams, leave my ability to be a teacher's pet to Gay Hoffmeyer.
- I, Sarah Vernon, leave my patience and perseverance to Lynne Potts, who will definitely need some of both next year.
- I, Norma Lang, leave my completely natural manner to Frieda Farfour.
- I, Mary Helen Whisenant, leave my love of the out-of-doors to Carla Giles.
- I, Eloise McAulay, will my sweet disposition to Anne Byrd.

We, Emily Hemphill, John Patton, Gary Parker, and Kay Woodie, leave our accomplishments in the field of music to Ronnie Puett and Pat Souther.

We, Gary Goodnight, James Murray, and Travis Snipes, leave our sense of individuality to Jeff Furst, Ted Summers, and Jimmy Sutherland.

We, Woodrow Tolbert and Steve Warren, gladly leave.

I, Miller Sigmon, leave my innumerable talents to Terry Messmer, who will have no difficulty filling my shoes.

We, Willard Burns, Jerry Grady, and Eric Orders, leave our ability to get along with everyone to George Patton and Allen Shook.

We, Steve Mast and Gene Williams, leave our adorable and out-going ways to anybody who thinks he can be as well liked as we are.

We, Barbara Abee, Sharon Ferree, Sylvia Hogan, and Andrea McNeely, leave our ability always to appear happy and gay to Patsy Westbrook.

We, Agneta Langfalt and Martin Kaiser, leave with many fond memories of Morganton High School and of the friends we have made during our stay here.

- I, Judy Finger, leave my position as truant officer for the Cat's Tale to Kate Avery, hoping that her attendance will improve by next year.
- I, Janie Hicks, leave my ability to have a good time, no matter what I happen to be doing, to Jodie Hairfield.
- I, Bobby Bigham, leave my favorite song, "I'll Have Fun, Fun, Fun, Till Daddy Takes the Sports Car Away," to Joe Cooper.

History

As the bewildered freshmen class of 1961 entered Morganton High for the first time, they scanned the horizon for a distant goal — high school graduation. Now as this goal is just around the corner, we can recall some of the highlights of the last four years.

As we roamed through the halls that first morning, we were awed by the upperclassmen and by the mass confusion of changing classes. Gradually, however, we became accustomed to the everyday routine. Leading us through this first uncertain year were Eddie Bristol, president; Steve Mast, vice-president; Carolyn Cantrell, secretary; and Mary Sanford, treasurer.

During our sophomore year we acquired the feeling of belonging as we became members of various clubs and thus established our niche in the school. At the same time we were struggling through biology projects, world history dates, and Latin translations. Our sophomore officers were Scott Cutting, president; Leslie Farfour, vice-president; Liz Connelly, secretary; and Miller Sigmon, treasurer.

Hard work characterized our junior year. The concession stand at football games and numerous club projects consumed much of our leisure time. Academic subjects became more of a challenge, resulting in chemistry explosions and class debates in economics. Marshals for graduation, selected on the basis of scholastic achievement, were Sarah Vernon and Miller Sigmon, chief marshals, and Judy Finger, Beth Hooper, Glenda Tallent, Mary Helen Whisenant, Billy Arnold, Jimmy Deutschle, Danny Jackson, and Sandy Brenneman.

The social highlight of the year was the Junior-Senior Prom. The theme, Underwater Wonderland, was developed into a work of art by the members of the class. Our leaders for this year were Miller Sigmon, president; Jimmy Deutschle, vice-president; Liz Connelly, secretary; and Danny Jackson, treasurer.

And finally we were seniors—leaders of the school. But we seldom had time to enjoy our position because we were flooded with club duties, dances, college applications, and other activities, not to mention senior English and other academic endeavors. Class officers for this year of responsibility were Jimmy Deutschle, president; Danny Jackson, vice-president; Liz Connelly, secretary; and Peggy McGimsey, treasurer.

One evening, early in June of '65, another class is to graduate from M.H.S. During four brief but difficult years, it has developed and matured into a group of young individuals. In every phase of activity, these four years have been educational—in academic courses, in responsibility, and in leadership. Preparing for our final exit, we realize, somewhat poignantly, that a small part of each of us remains as our contribution to the heritage of our Alma Mater.

Prophecy

The last place on earth I expected to visit in my position as roving journalist was Morganton. With the announcement of the 1985 Nobel Prizes, however, I did return to my hometown to do a story on the winners of the physics prize — Bill Gifford, Jimmy Deutschle, John Weller, and Sandy Brenneman.

My plane to Morganton was piloted by Leslie Farfour and Bobby Bigham. Stewardesses Patty Reid and Belva Suttle helped make the flight more pleasant. Other Morgantonians on the plane were WAC Brenda Kcaton, Major Eugene Smith, Captain Tommy Beach, and General Gary Brown, all returning home from the Pentagon. Upon arrival, I met millionaires Freddie Lee, Steve Mast, and Bill Lennon getting ready to board a flight for the French Riviera.

After interviewing the winners, I decided to renew some old friendships and see how the years had changed the city. My first stop on a tour of the town was at the new medical center, which had just been completed by the construction company of Rod Orders and Herb Speas.

In the tremendous General Hospital I met nurses Joanne Chapman, Jerroll Stamcy, and Sara Jcan Stamps. With them were X-ray and laboratory assistants Wilma Rockett and Diane McCall. I found Dr. Danny Jackson congratulating Dr. Glenda Tallent who had just cured Jerry Penley of his chronic hiccoughs.

While still in the medical center, I decided to visit Hooper's Pharmacy where I talked to proprietor Beth Hooper and pharmacists Jimmy Berdine and Roby Braswell. In the cosmetic department Evelyn Walker and Elizabeth Pittman were swamped by customers demanding Wanda's Wonder Soap invented by Misses Keller and McKinney. Managing the camera center were Judy Lindsay and Rita Poteet.

Driving downtown, I stopped at Broughton Hospital where the state convention of social workers was being held. Noted psychologists Judy Williams and Patsy Morris were the guest speakers. Elected as state officers were Jane Butler, Pat Majors, Sylvia Hogan, and Judy Whisnant.

Next on my agenda was the inevitable walk down Union Street. The first building I passed was the law firm of Keith Rusmisell, Stuart DeVane, and Steve Copeland which was directly across from the thriving engineering corporation composed of Billy Arnold, Roger Turbyfill, James Murray, and Jerry Grady.

Next passing the office of dentist Jack Stroupe, I saw assistants Martha Ann Abee and Becky Smith leaving for lunch. I asked them to join me for dinner at the beautiful new Williams' Restaurant owned by Gene, Dicky, and Ted and managed by Steve Warren and Woodrow Tolbert. Upon entering, we were shown to a table by hostess Betsy Brunson and were served promptly by Barbara Tuttle.

At the next table Sarah Vernon, Kay Thorpe, Peggy McGimsey, and Norma Lang were fortifying themselves for an afternoon-long session at the bridge table. Behind us Carolyn Cantrell, Janice Erwin, and Frances Hensley were discussing the success of their new book How to Talk More and Say Less. As we were finishing, I noticed Lynne Tolbert, Soundra Goodnight, Betty Jo Coffey, and Diane Shull entering a private dining room where there was a luncheon for the Secretarial Association.

While I was paying cashier Joyce Fleming, we were nearly trampled by Gene Grigg, Henry Dickens, and Ricky Roper as they rushed to get an autograph from starlet Judy Smith who was entering with her press agent, Barry Whetstine. Outside I said adieus to Becky and Martha and continued my trek down Union Street.

I soon arrived at the architectural firm of Eric Orders and Ronald Fisher. Associated with their organization were interior designers, Jeanne Hairfield, Sheila Walker, and Ervin Sisk and commercial artists, Pat Norman and Barbara Abee.

Walking on down the street, I ran into Ministers Ernie Copenhaver, Tim Walker, and Dean Finch who were on the way to their respective churches.

Next in view was the beauty salon of noted hair stylists Betty Clark and Martha Oliver. I met Judy Nusz coming out with her hair dyed a most unusual but very becoming shade of green. She told me she was on her way to a fashion show where Liz Connelly, Matoka Dale, Linda Houston, Libby Elkin, and Sharon Feree were all going to model the clothes of the famous designing team of Marie Mull, Susie Spencer, and Eloise McAulay.

As I left Judy, I met Mayor Eddie Bristol escorting Agneta Langfalt and Martin Kaiser who had returned to Morganton for a brief vist.

My first stop downtown was Cutting-Connelly Chevrolet owned by the two Scotts. While looking at new cars I talked with sports-car drivers Ned Pearson and Johnny Peeler whose cars were being tuned up by Gary Melton and Travis Snipes. Also working were Danny Cooke, Sammy Depew, and Frank Brown. Outside, Willard Burns and Roger Hollifield were erecting a brand new neon sign designed to out-glitter the one put up across the street by their rivals, the Hicks-Houpe Chrysler Dealers, run by Janie Hicks and Mike Houpe.

Driving around town, I passed the proposed site of the new Morganton High School. Principal Bill Patton, followed by the secretaries Pam and Mildred Bradley who were furiously taking notes, was trying to convince school board members Tommy Maye, Henry Seitz, Mark Robinson, and Sarah Clontz, and Chairman Kathy Roberson of the need for a new school. He pointed out teachers Judy Finger and Beatrice Rivers conducting their advanced math classes under the trees due to overcrowded conditions. Nearby the English faculty, Jane Coley, Sheila England, and Brenda Bingham, had their students diagramming sentences on the sidewalk. The band, directed by Ronnie Shuping, was practicing on the adjacent street because of inadequate rehearsal facilities. Across the street, the coaching staff, John Warlick, Mike Irvin, Eugene Thomas, and Mary Helen Whisenant, had their teams sowing grass in the hope that they could have a suitable athletic field next year. The school board left still shaking their heads in doubt.

Next in view was the colossal Morganton Chemical Corporation which recently purchased Dupont Enterprises. The business is headed by chairmen of the board, Charles Fisher and Joe Puett, and directors Ronald Morris, Grant Dale, Gregg Harding, Jimmy Arney, and Robert Patton.

Upon entering the main office, I was met by receptionists Ginger Steele and Sarah Leonhardt. They explained that supervisor David Scott would be glad to show me the buildings and Marie Walker immediately paged him. When David arrived, he suggested that we start with the office buildings. While there, I saw secretaries Kay and Peggy Fetherbay, Sylvia Suddreth, and Andrea McNeely. Busy at the switch board were Connie Hall and Judy Yates.

Next on the tour I met IBM operators Dane Pritchard, Daphne Allman, and Tommy Simmons. We also encountered accountants Gary Goodnight and Sondra Pendley and data processors Billy Grady and Edith McCall.

After completing the tour of M.C.C., I returned to the Williams' Restaurant for supper. That night I attended a concert of the Morganton Philharmonic Orchestra directed by Miller Sigmon. Featured on the program were soloists Kay Woodie and Emily Hemphill and a woodwind quintet composed of Johnny Patton, Emmett Britain, Linda Hoyle, Gary Parker, and Linda Brown. It was announced that there would be a recital by the Angela Strickland Dancers the following evening.

The concert brought a fitting end to my day of visitation in my home city. I therefore returned to the luxurious Morganton Motel owned by Gene Kirby, Kenny Kincaid, and Dicky Farr, and proceeded to prepare for my early morning departure. While packing, I couldn't help but review the events of the day with great pleasure and realize how fortunate the citizens of Morganton are.

With these and similar thoughts passing through my mind, I drifted off to sleep dreaming of such things as Wanda's Wonder Soap and the Morganton Chemical Corporation.

When morning came, I said my goodbyes and headed for the airport where I boarded a Morganton Air Lines Jet for New York City.

Football

After leading the conference for the first half of the season, the Morganton High Wildcats were unable to capitalize on the even strength of the conference and maintain their leading position, ending the season with a 3-5-2 record overall and a 3-3-2 record in the conference, finishing fifth in the standings.

Bad breaks and inexperience marked the first game as the Wildcats journeyed to Valdese to play the revamped Tigers. The defense, while scoring the 'Cats only touchdown on a fumble recovered in the end zone by Gene Williams, were able to contain the passing and power plays, but were hurt on the flanks. Outstanding offensive and defensive efforts were displayed by John Warlick and Tommy Fleming.

Against the Red-Devils of Newton-Conover, the 'Cats played one of their best games of the year, coming back in the second half from a 7-6 score, to win by a two touchdown margin 20-7. The game was marked by excellent defensive and offensive play by Ted Williams, Scott Cutting, Keith Rusmisell, Mike DiBiase, Leslie Farfour, and Gene Thomas. Jimmy Deutschle, Mike "Spider" Irvin, and T. Fleming each collected a touchdown.

The Bear-Cats of Lenoir fell to the Wildcats in a see-saw battle highlighted by a 98-yard interception and touchdown run by T. Fleming in the third quarter. Fleming had scored earlier on a 20yard run, and the final touchdown on a sneak by Deutschle iced the cake for the 'Cats.

Deutschle iced the cake for the 'Cats.

The next week, the inspired 'Cats knocked the Wilkes Central Eagles from their nest by handing them their first defeat in 25 games. T. Fleming again scored the winning touchdown in an interception-run back of 56 yards. The entire Morganton team played what has been described as one of the best games ever, rising to the occasion numerous times. The desire of the entire team was significantly shown in the second half which was marked with several goal-line stands.

Summary

The 4-A power house, East Mecklenburg, rolled over the 'Cats 26-0, in a non-conference tilt. The next week, the 'Cats battled the Taylorsville Bears to a 6-6 tie, a game featuring the 'Cats only touchdown on a 64-yard punt return by Warlick behind excellent blocking. The defensive play of Rusmisell, Charles Fisher, and G. Williams, and the ball carrying of Freddie Setzer were outstanding. Barry Whetstine scored the winning touchdown in the overtime period.

Against Hudson, the 'Cats collapsed, playing their poorest game of the season, losing 27-0. The next week, Valdese was given three touchdowns, while the 'Cats could not capitalize on a blocked punt and fumble recoveries by Sandy Brenneman, Whetstine, and Rusmisell.

Again the 'Cats played winning ball against the Rippers of Marion but tied 6-6, then won in a double overtime when Jerry "Spook" Grady intercepted a Marion pass. Grady, T. Fleming, Whetstine, and Sid Bryson were outstanding on offense, with Rusmisell, Brenneman, Steve Copeland, and Gene Grigg leading the way on defense.

In the final game of the season, the 'Cats spotted a powerful Hickory team two first half touchdowns, then fell to the Conference Champs 27-0.

Keith Rusmisell was captain of this year's Wildcats, backed by alternate captains Ted Williams, Barry Whetstine, and Steve Copeland.

Three players, Keith Rusmisell, Sandy Brenneman, and Barry Whetstine, were honored by an invitation to play in the Lions Bowl. In addition the 'Cats had two All-Conference men, Sandy Brenneman and Keith Rusmisell.

Golf

FORE!

Over the years, our golf team has established the reputation of being the "winningest" team at Morganton High. Although they were hampered by the new rules for the pre-tournament matches last season, the linksmen again had the best team in our conference. For the third consecutive year, they captured the W.N.C.H.S.A.A. championship and brought a golf trophy to the M.H.S. trophy case for the fifth time in six years. This impressive record gave evidence to the diligent training and practice of each member of the golf team.

With year-round practice and several returning lettermen, this year's team seems well on its way to upholding the tradition of golfing victories for M.H.S.

At W.N.C.H.S.A.A. meet, Coach Caroway's boys captured first place in the discus throw and high jump divisions and fourth place in the overall standings. Two outstanding Wildcats were invited to participate in the bi-conference meet where they represented our team well.

Miss Anchor Club, Mary S. Abernathy, escorted by Mike Buff.

Officers: Liz Connelly, secretary; Carolyn Sakowski, vice-president; Betsy Brunson, president; Mary Helen Whisenant, treasurer; Mrs. Holmes, sponsor.

The Anchor Club programs and activities revolved around its theme for the year — "It's a Woman's World". To boost school spirit, it displayed "fight" posters throughout the school. The club strove to contribute to our community as well as to our school by volunteering its members' services to W. C. Center and N.C.S.D.

Officers: Carla Giles, secretary; Peggy McGimsey, president; Mrs. Amos, sponsor; Kate Avery, vice-president; Norma Lang, treasurer.

The members of the Girls' Varsity "M" Club worked hard throughout the year to promote school spirit and student interest in the girls' athletic activities. They also improved the appearance of M.H.S. by remodeling the trophy case. Their major project this year was the sale of programs at home football games.

During the year the Key Club upheld its tradition of being one of the most active organizations at Morganton High. Its members were responsible for providing student buses to out-of-town football games, erecting a new flagpole in front of the school, and presenting a weekly radio program, "M.H.S. Spotlight".

Officers: John Warlick, secretary; Keith Rusmisell, president; Mike Irvin, treasurer; Steve Copeland, sergeant at arms; Gene Williams, vice-president; Coach Broome, sponsor.

The Boys' Varsity "M" Club recognizes those boys who have excelled in our athletic program and boosts the school spirit at M.H.S. During basketball season they sponsored a student-faculty ball game which was both entertaining and profitable. The highlight this year was the annual picnic held in the spring.

Officers: Judy Ferguson, vice-president; Pam Greene, sec'y-treasurer; Miss Page, sponsor; Frieda Farfour, reporter; Matoka Dale, president; Susan Ervin, historian.

The F.H.A. was established for the benefit of girls interested in becoming better acquainted with the field of homemaking. Its members can be relied upon to offer their valuable assistance at any school function. As usual, the club was well represented at the annual state convention held in Raleigh in the spring.

Officers: Philip Whitaker, treasurer; Terry Messmer, vice-president; Miss Blaylock, sponsor; Judy Finger, president; Lynne Potts, secretary.

Many Latin Club projects were directed toward active participation in the Junior Classical League. This year with a local member, Eddie Bristol, serving as state president, the club through its candy sales financed the printing of programs for the state convention, which many members attended in the spring.

French Club

Miss French Club, Janie Hicks, escorted by Donald Sisk.

Officers: Marie Mull, secretary; Janie Hicks, president; Beth Hooper, program chairman; Mrs. Tallent, sponsor; Danny Jackson, treasurer.

The newly adopted constitution brought about increased activity and greater interest among the members of the French Club. By sponsoring baked food sales, the club raised a sizeable sum of money which was donated to South Mountain Institute. The annual spring picnic brought an enjoyable end to a successful year.

Officers: Evelyn Walker, secretary; Stuart DeVane, treasurer; Danny Jackson, president; Roger Turbyfill, vice-president; Mr. Setzer and Mr. McKinney, sponsors.

By presenting an informative assembly program and a stimulating series of programs at meetings, the Science Club stressed the importance of science in every facet of life. At the conclusion of the school year, a Science Award, financed by baked food sales, was given to an outstanding physics and chemistry student.

Science Club

Miss Science Club, Norma Lang, escorted by Dean Finch.

3.5.A.

Miss F.T.A., Beatrice Rivers, escorted by Eddie Bristol.

Officers: Mrs. Lay, sponsor; Peggy Bingham, vice-president; Beatrice Rivers, president; Martha Ann Abee, secretary; Barbara Randall, treasurer.

This year the Future Teachers adopted many new projects. Among these were maintaining an attractive bulletin board in the front hall and sponsoring a weekly Story Hour for children at the public library. Their active year was climaxed by a talent show, "Shamrock Shenanigans", with all proceeds given to N.C.S.D.

Officers: Frieda Farfour, secretary; Sandy Brenneman, president; Miss Pascal, sponsor; Freddie Setzer, vice-president; Billy Arnold, treasurer

The American Field Service was created in preparation for the arrival of our foreign exchange students. By coordinating their activities our chapter tried to make the students' stay enjoyable as well as memorable. The students at M.H.S. made all the donations necessary for the support of this organization.

A.F.S.

Miss A.F.S., Agneta Langfalt, escorted by Martin Kaiser.

Spanish Club

Miss Spanish Club, Libby Elkin, escorted by Steve Baker.

Officers: Libby Elkin, secretary; Steve Mast, president; Billy Kirksey, vice-president; Ernie Copenhaver, treasurer; Mr. Setzer, sponsor.

Under a revised constitution and new leadership, the Spanish Club attempted to establish a precedent of activity for the following years. This year was characterized by increased efforts to promote the study of Spanish at M.H.S. By undertaking various projects, the club succeeded in furthering its aims.

Officers: Charles Monroe, vice-president; Sheila Walker, secretary; Freddie Lee, treasurer; Miss Burleson, sponsor; Frank Brown, president; Larry Ross, historian.

For the first time this year, Marketing and I.C.T. were offered as courses of study to M.H.S. juniors and seniors. These students organized the Deca Club which enabled its members to gain valuable experience in various vocational fields. In the fall, two members represented the club at the regional contest.

D.E. Club

Library Club

Miss Library Club, Mildred Bradley, escorted by Roby Braswell.

Officers: Martha Ann Abee, reporter; Ricky Roper, vice-president; Judy Whisnant, president; Mrs. Beach, sponsor; Sammy Depew, treasurer; Judy Lindsay, secretary.

The Library Club assisted Mrs. Beach in executing the duties necessary to operate the library efficiently and effectively. The members devoted much of their time to improving the atmosphere and appearance of the library. This was accomplished through the use of interesting displays and proper care of the books.

Officers: Angela Strickland, sec'y-treasurer; Mr. Babelay, sponsor; Tony Loftis, vice-president; John Peeler, president.

The Chorus received due praise for its accomplishments during the year. The Christmas Concert, the result of many hours of rehearsal, gave evidence to the vocal abilities of the group. The success of this and other performances resulted not only from continual practice but also from the study of music fundamentals.

Student Board

Advisors: Mr. Charles Snyder, Mr. F. C. Schiebout, Mr. Alexander Neely.

Officers: Peggy McGimsey, secretary; Jimmy Deutschle, president; Sandy Brenneman, vice-president; Sarah Vernon, treasurer.

The Student Activities Board efficiently coordinated the needs of the student body and of the administration. In addition to presenting the morning devotions and scheduling the assembly programs, the Board successfully campaigned for needy families at Christmas and supervised the publication of a student directory. Through its endeavors the Board tried to increase club activity and make Morganton High worthy of the pride of its students.

Seated: L. Hoyle, E. Gregory, J. Hairfield, D. McCall, B. Rivers, R. Curlee, G. Hoffmeyer, S. Ervin. Standing: C. Bannon, M. Phifer, T. Messmer, N. Lang, B. Patton, B. Brunson, H. Lane, F. Hensley.

Sponsor, Mr. James Cates, with Quill and Scroll members Beatrice Rivers, Roy Curlee, and Susan Ervin.

Under the new management of the journalism students, our newspaper, the Cauldron, has been completely reorganized. The members of the class varied the contents of each issue by utilizing the system of rotating editors. This year the Cauldron staff attained its multiple goal of accurately reporting school news, reflecting the opinions of the student body, acknowledging the creativity of individual students, and providing entertainment for its readers.

Cauldron

Miss Cauldron, Betsy Brunson, escorted by Gary Coffin.

Senior Staff: Janie Hicks, Judy Finger, and Mary Helen Whisenant.

Miss Cat's Tale, Sarah Vernon, escorted by Terry Messmer.

Annual

Life behind the annual room's green door is both creative and routine — and often quite hectic. We, the staff of the Cat's Tale '65, have undertaken the difficult task of combining all the facets of our publication into a book that will reflect the atmosphere of Morganton High and the personalities and moods of its students. However, we could never reach our goal without the co-operation of the student body, our administration, and many merchants and citizens of our community.

We devote much time to writing copy, planning layouts, identifying pictures, and typing pages upon pages of copy sheets. Yet, amid all the work, we find Junior Staff: Jodie Hairfield, Kate Avery, Terry Messmer, and Ted Pittman.

The Cat's Tale '65 would be a very dull book if Photographer Bill Gifford and Artist Pat Norman hadn't lent their time and talents to its publication.

Staff

time for the fun and laughter that arise in any congenial group. As the deadline approaches, we find ourselves in a flurry of activity, attending to the myriad of last-minute details. Finally, we accomplish the seemingly impossible task of sending our yearbook to press.

Once the Cat's Tale '65 returns from the publishing firm, the staff can no longer call it "our" annual — it now belongs to the student body of M.H.S. We can only hope that our inspirations, our plans, and our long hours of work have resulted in a publication that in years to come will revive for each student pleasant memories of his four fleeting years at Morganton High.

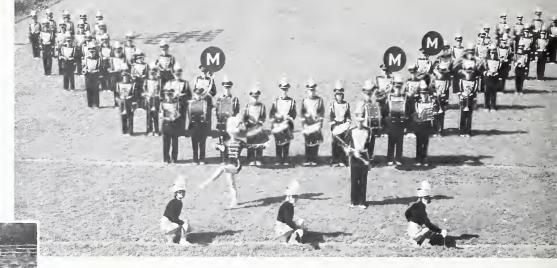

Ted's up in the air over the annual.

Senior Business Staff: Roby Braswell, Leslie Farfour, and Scott Cutting.

"Put", our advisor, pays frequent visits to the annual room to keep an eye on our progress.

Majorettes: Nolita Fisher; Jackie Hensley; Mitzi Strickland; Elaine Hudson, head.

The marching band has brought much honor and many trophies to M.H.S.

Morganton

Headed by director Raymond Babelay and his assistant, James Graeber, the Morganton High School Band, widely acclaimed for its musical accomplishments, has been a valuable asset to both our school and our community.

The marching band, led by drum major Steve Rudicil, entertained the spectators at the Wildcat football games and the crowds along the routes of many parades. Given the opportunity to display its ability at the contest for marching bands in Bristol, Va.-Tenn., our band received the highest possible rating in its class and the accompanying trophy. The majorette corps, judged the best in its division, was also awarded a trophy.

Officers: Miller Sigmon, president; Ronnie Shuping, vice-president; Mr. Babelay, director; Jack Stroupe, secretary; Bill Lennon, treasurer.

High Band

With the last football game came the close of marching season and the advent of concert season. The ensuing months were spent in rehearsal for the band's two public performances and in preparation for the regional contest for concert bands. Individual band members demonstrated their talent and proficiency at the solo and ensemble contest held at Davidson College.

M.H.S. band students devoted much time to raising the money to finance a trip to the World's Fair in the summer. There they will present concerts at the New York Pavilion where the stage band will be featured. This trip will be a fitting climax to a very successful year.

D. Hardin, R. Patton, J. Weller, L. Bryant, E. Copenhaver, J. Sigmon, G. Parker, C. Brown, J. Patton, B. Hoyle, A. Irvin. Back Row: D. Turner, J. Bryant, L. Buff, C. Craver, H. Seitz, J. Stroupe, F. Braswell, G. Tallent, C. Hogshead, B. Lennon, R. Puett, J. Hawkins, D. Panarese, H. McKinney, B. Bryant.

A clear night, an exciting ballgame, a spirited crowd, and eighteen excited girls set the scene for Morganton High's 1964 Homecoming. While the band played, the sponsors were escorted onto the field and took their respective positions. Then an expectant hush fell over the stadium. The absolute stillness was broken finally by the long-awaited announcement — Miss Liz Connelly, Miss Homecoming for 1964.

announcement — Miss Liz Connelly, Miss Homecoming for 1964.

Liz, surprised yet smiling, stepped onto the platform as her enthusiastic subjects gave her a standing ovation. Steve Mast, a representative of the Student Activities Board, placed the crown upon her head and presented her with the traditional red roses. Our band then performed their award-winning routine in honor of our new queen and her court.

Following the game, Liz, still beaming, reigned over the homecoming dance and collected many memories to be cherished for years to come.

"Do the Dog!"

Is this Home Ec. class or Jr.-Sr.?

Junior-Senior

On a warm night in early May, Morganton High Juniors and Seniors journeyed to the bottom of the sea to spend an evening dancing among dolphins, mermaids, and sunken ships. Weeks of fund-raising, careful planning, and artistic decorating by the Juniors had resulted in the transformation of a slightly-battered gym into an "Underwater Wonderland."

The music of the Ascots and attractive marine murals added to the festive atmosphere. Delicious foods served by the sophomore "pirates" drew many couples from the dance floor time and again.

As the dancers reluctantly departed, they turned for a last glance at the romantic setting of a most memorable Junior-Senior.
